PORK TENDERLOIN ROAST

The Core Temperature is taken with a thermometer from the very centre of the meat.

Whilst all our recipes are developed, tried and tested by our Executive Chef, Jeff Baker, variances in native and rare breed animals can vary immensely, therefore cooking times are a guide only. Please ensure all products are cooked through and hot before serving.

At Farmison & Co we have a extensive range of both modern and heritage cuts on offer, please visit our main website for detail on individual products.

SERVING SUGGESTIONS

Serve with cauliflower cheese, tender fine beans tossed in fried breadcrumbs and butter.

METHOD

1. Remember to remove your joint out of the packaging, pat dry and bring to room temperature.
2. Pre heat your oven to 200°C temperature fan assisted or 215°C without a fan.
3. Season the joint just prior to roasting.
4. Choose a large, heavy based roasting tray, ideally with deep sides and handles for easy movement.
5. Massage a little goose or duck fat or a light olive oil if the joint does not have a generous coating of fat then season with good quality fine sea salt.
6. Next fry the tenderloin on all sides creating a rich golden colour in a non stick fry pan.
7. Make a trivet by roughly chopping equal amounts of onion, carrot and celery or our preferred choice of celeriac, the root of the celery plus a bay leaf, sprig of thyme and a few black peppercorns, another nice addition can be a Bramley apple peeled and quartered to the trivet.
8. Place the pork skin side up onto the trivet which should line the base of the tray.
9. Place in centre of oven and roast for 20 minutes reaching a core temperature of minimum 68°C.
10. Remove from oven and pop onto a clean tray and keep warm by covering with a sheet of tin foil then resting for a minimum of 10 minutes before carving, leaving the roasted vegetables in the tray for the gravy.
11. For the gravy make up 300ml of Essential Cuisine chicken stock, then deglaze roasting tray with this stock stirring all the caramelized juices from the tray, then pass through a fine sieve pushing all the juices from the vegetables into a clean sauce pan, bring to the simmer and thicken if required by whisking in a teaspoon of corn flour mixed with a little cold water and reduce till you reach a rich glossy gravy.
